

Panel 2-4B. Aging & Health

Date & Time: Oct. 25 (Fri), 14:00-16:00

Venue: Room 106

“National Surveys of Aging and Health”

---

- Moderator
& Chair      Yunhwan Lee      (Professor, Ajou University School of Medicine, Republic of Korea)
- Panel 2-4B. a      Tomasz Grodzicki      (Professor, Jagiellonian University Medical College, Poland)
Epidemiology of major geriatric syndromes in older adults in Central Eastern Europe: Results of the PolSenior2 Survey
- Panel 2-4B. b      Eunna Kang      (Research Fellow, Korea Institute for Health and Social Affairs, Republic of Korea)
National Survey of Older Koreans: Survey design and key findings
- Panel 2-4B. c      Eun-Jeong Han      (Research Fellow, National Insurance Service, Republic of Korea)
The Korean Longitudinal Healthy Aging Study (KLHAS): Overview and contents

Q&A

---

Abstract

National surveys examining the health of the older population are essential to understanding the aging process, identifying its major determinants, and predicting future health outcomes in later life. In this session, experts from the fields of geriatrics, gerontology, and public health share the key findings from nationwide surveys on aging and explore future directions for research and practice, with policy implications.